Pat Dodson

Public Utility Assessment Manager

Pat Dodson is the Public Utility Assessment Manager for the Tennessee Comptroller's Office of State Assessed Properties (OSAP). Pat oversees the assessment analysts, and communicates OSAP's mission and valuation methods with many groups and companies. Pat is the primary liaison between OSAP and Tennessee's County Trustees.

Pat began working for the state in 1986 in the Assessment Division of the Public Service Commission as an Administrative Assistant. She was promoted to Assessment Analyst in 1996 when the PSC's assessment function was placed under the Comptroller's Office. She has served as the Public Utility Assessment Manager since 2012.

Pat holds a Bachelor of Science in Public Relations and Advertising from Middle Tennessee State University, and an Associate Degree in Broadcasting from Jackson State Community College. She currently serves on the Comptroller's Business Continuity Working Group and oversees OSAP's Strategic Plan and Risk Assessment Plan.

In her spare time Pat enjoys running, biking and playing with her 4lb dog, Lilly Belle. She is the proud mother of her son, Stephen Dodson.
